

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A solar cell connector which has at least one compensation section, the compensation section having a frame-shaped structure, and a method is provided for producing the solar cell connector. The frame-shaped structure compensation section includes only one recess.